

Caylee Noggle is currently the Commissioner of the Georgia Department of Community Health. She was appointed to this role by Governor Kemp in 2021. Previously, she served as Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations in the Office of Governor Brian P. Kemp. She also served as interim Chief of Staff to Governor Kemp, following her service as interim Chief of Staff at the Georgia Department of Public Health and Chief Management Officer for the Governor's Office. Before joining the Kemp Administration in January 2020, Noggle served as President, Interim President, Chief Operating Officer, and Chief Financial Officer for the Georgia Student Finance Commission. She holds a bachelor's degree from Millikin University and master's degree in College Student Affairs from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock where she served as a financial aid officer before moving to Georgia.

She played a central role in the state's COVID-19 operational response, coordinating staffing augmentation for healthcare facilities statewide, facilitating the Alternate Care Facility at the Georgia World Congress Center, and leading cross-agency efforts to plan and deploy vaccination and testing sites. During her tenure at DCH, she led efforts to implement several new Directed Payment Programs that secured over $1 billion in new funding for hospitals around the state.

Noggle has previously served as Director of the Physical and Economic Development Division in the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget where she handled budget and policy oversight for more than twenty state agencies. She also served as Coordinator of First Year and Academic Support Programs at the University of West Georgia.

She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Georgia Lottery Corporation and a 2022 graduate of Leadership Georgia. She is a past recipient of GASFAA's Outstanding Service to Students Award and NASPA's Graduate and Professional Student Award. She and her family live in Atlanta and are members of Oak Grove United Methodist Church.
