

Georgia Project Firstline

Nurses are powerful and they save lives. You can honor their service and dedication by celebrating National Nurses Week May 6-12 and empower them with free infection prevention education from Georgia Project Firstline. We have an experienced infection preventionist in every health care coalition. Connect with Georgia Project Firstline and learn about educational opportunities and free infection prevention resources.

What would you see if you could examine the people, surfaces, and devices around you under a microscope?

Knowing where germs live helps you understand how to stop their spread – and protect your patients.

Recognize the risks.
